DESTINED TO BE SMELTING CENTER

The Steptoe Valley mill and smelter plant follows the plan of the Washoe smelter in having the concentrating mill and smelter proper in close association. The concentrating mill will have a capacity for the treatment of 4000 tons of crude ore per day. The smelter proper may be rated as of 1000 tons capacity.

The leading features of this plant are the complete separation of the various departments; the drafting of each set of furnaces through independent flues and chimneys and the simplification of the transportation of ore and material among the various departments. There will be sixteen 18-foot MacDougall roasting furnaces, three reverbratory smelting furnaces, each 112x19 feet, and one blasting furnace 42 inches by 29 feet.

The converting department comprises three 96x150-inch electrically operated converters. Each of the reverbratory furnaces is provided with two 400-horse power boilers arranged in parallel, of course with suitable by-passes.

This appears to be preferable to the tandem arrangement which obtains in many plants. The plants for the Steptoe smelter contemplate the eventual installation of 32 roasting furnaces and six reverbratories. It is foreseen that some day there may be a direct line of railway from Ely to Tonopah and Goldfield, which will make Ely a great customs smelting center. Indeed, it is rumored that the survey for this line will be begun early in 1908.—Engineering and Mining Journal.

LUCK, ALL RIGHT.

"Did you hang up your stocking on Christmas eve?"

"I sho' did," answered Pickaninny Jim.

"Did you have any luck?"

"Well, I reckons you might call it some luck. Nobody didn't steal de stockin'."—Washington Star.
